

SPORTSMED SCHOLARSHIPS

Six college-bound students received a financial boost when Metro SportsMed presented them with scholarships for their higher education during a ceremony at KeySpan Park.

The endowments marked the physical and occupational therapy facility's annual scholarship athlete awards at the local baseball turf, 1904 Surf Avenue.

The recipients in the girls group were: Allison Behette and Erica Tierney, Bishop Kearney, 2202 60th Street, who received first and third place, respectively; and Alexa Segal, Leon M. Goldstein High School for the Sciences, 1830 Shore

Boulevard, who was awarded second place.

The boys winners were: Alexander Bortoc, Abraham Lincoln High School, 2800 Ocean Parkway, first place; Ayobami Fatade, Clara Barton High School, 901 Classon Avenue, second place; and Paul Nasri, Midwood High School, 2939 Bedford Avenue, who came in third.

The students were judged on their athletic and academic performances, and received $500, $250 and $100 in scholarships for first, second and third place, respectively.

Metro SportsMed is located at 263 7th Avenue.

Compass Realty Central employees participated in a charity car wash in support of Camp Brooklyn.

CLEANING UP FOR MARTY'S CAMP BROOKLYN

Real estate office Compass Realty Central participated in a charity car wash in Bensonhurst to support Brooklyn Borough President, Marty Markowitz's Camp Brooklyn, which arranges fully-paid two-week stays at sleep-away camps for Brooklyn children who can't afford to camp.

Compass Realty Central raised $735 from contributions stemming from the car wash. According to organizers, "Marty Markowitz does so much for Brooklyn and the children and we were more than excited to help him help children."

Compass Realty Central is located at 6801 20th Avenue.

A representative of the Borough President's office presents students Alex Segal, Erin Tierney, Allison Behette, Paul Nasir, Alex Bortoc and Michael Sundholm (from left) as Metro Sports Med High School administrators Jill Sheinberg, David Menche and Norma Rossi look on. Photo by Arthur De Gaeta

JEWISH WAR VETERANS INTRODUCE NEW SLATE

A distinguished roster was in attendance when members and supporters ushered in a new slate for the Murray H. Lebowitz Post 129, Jewish War Veterans, with an officer installation in Bergen Beach.

Kings County Commander Arthur Feigenbaum inducted David Glass as post commander, and Robert Rosenthal and Arthur Pupkin as junior vice commander and senior vice commander, respectively, during a pomp-filled ceremony at Temple Sholom of Flatbush, 2075 East 68th Street, attended by State Senator Marty Golden and Patrol Borough Brooklyn South Assistant Chief Joseph Fox.

Former President Sylvia Elgart installed Helen Lowey and Leila Bloomfield as co-presidents of the Ladies Auxiliary.

Chief Fox was honored for his crime-fighting leadership and inducted as an honorary member of the post.

Members of Ladies JWV Post 129 are re-installed to office.

Photos by Bob Hacken

Kings County JWW Commander Arthur Feigenbaum installs members Robert Rosenthal, Arthur Pupkin and David Glass.